They were first used thousands of years ago, not just for rain, but often as a sign of importance or royalty. Ancient civilizations like the Egyptians, Assyrians, and Chinese used parasols to protect themselves from the sun. They were also used in ceremonies. Over time, umbrellas became more common in other parts of the world, including Europe. At first, they were mostly used by women, but eventually, men started using them too. This institution is an equal opportunity provider. Menu subject to change.
